ON THE THRESHOLD

Magnificent Sermon Delivered by Rev. J. B. Stein.

"LIFE'S POSSIBILITIES."

The Graduating Class of the Bellefonte High School Attended the Methodist Episcopal Church and Listened to a Most Excellent Address.

THE CHURCH BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED

Sunday was a miserable day to attend church but nevertheless the good people of the town faced the cold, wet weather and heard Rev. Platts in the morning and Rev. Stein in the evening Both houses of worship were filled. The Presbyterian church was adorned with Old Glory while the Methodist Episcopal Church was beautifully decorated with spring times sweetest flower. The great contract between the Old Soldier and the Young Graduate one about ready to lay down life's burden's and struggles the other to take them up.

We publish a part of the Baccalaurette Sermon delivered by Rev. Stein.

"ON THE THRESHOLD OR LIFE'S POSSIBILITIES"

Sermon before the Graduating Class of the Bellefonte High School May 26th 1907, by REV. J. B. STEIN.

Possibilities for Good. This is the more pleasing task. It is a wide field, too wide for us to traverse in detail this evening. We can only note a point or two of paramont importance. The first possibility for good that claims our attention is that of "Self-Mastery." To the thoughtless this may seem but child's play. Such however, is not the case by any means. Here is the battlefield where the greatest military heroes have signally failed. More than one Alexander, or Caesar, or Napoleon, have here met their Waterloo. The forces to be conquered in gaining the mastery of self are not such as were encountered by the renowned Don Quixote. They are real, not imaginary strong and alert. We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. But thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ!" It is possible for us to overcome in the contest with "self" Revelation, observation, and experience unite to confirm this statement. There is a power, mightier than they all; for it is almighty. This power, with the co-operation of your own, will give complete mastery, and crown you sovereign in the realms of self. In the region of self lies your true nobility. Your sovereignty here is fundamental. All goodness and real greatness are absolutely dependent upon self-mastery, and self control. True heroes and princes are those who govern themselves. Who leads the victorious army, is lauded and praised as the hero. But the wisest of men has said, "He that ruleth his spirit is greater than he that taketh a city." Who has such a kingdom, has one like unto his Elder-Brother, an everlasting kingdom. Thrones may be overturned, crowns plucked from the royal brow, the sceptre snatched from regal hands, but who shall ever disturb thy throne, O ruler of self, invade thy territory, or take thy crown?

Another possibility for good is the building of good character. The greater possibilities of life are constructive—We are to be good. We are to be more than good. We are to be good for something. The out-put of a good life is a good character. The only way to get it is to build it. It is not inherited nor can it be purchased for a price, nor is it ever bestowed as a gift, nor does it ever come like "Topsy," in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," who accounted for her appearance upon the stage of human life, by the statement that she had just "growned." It is the result of right volitions, and thoughtful, purposeful effort. Character is builded, and you alone can build your own. In this direction lies sure success, if you will it so. Ultimate and complete triumph lies in the range of possibilities in the direction of character-building. We can not all be rich, nor renowned, but can all be good. This is true greatness. Here is true success. All else is ephemeral, but for the day, Character abides through all time and while the ages of eternity roll. All else but the accidents, incidents, perquisites, of this life. Character is the passport to the skies.—the "Open Sesame" of the treasure house of heaven, our credential in the presence of the Judge of the assembled universe, and this credential alone will call forth the Divine approval and the Master's tribute: 'well done, thou good and faithful servant.' Choosing aught else, at the expense of character, is to sacrifice the substance for the shadow. The barters away this priceless gem of the soul, can obtain but the "mess of pottage," at best, in the exhange; and makes himself poor indeed,—though his hands be filled with gold, and he bear the title to the estates of a kingdom. Who wisely selects the one foundation, and thereon erects the stately structure of a good character, Joseph-like will surely come out of obscurity to the possession and control of the resources and revenues of the kingdom,—the kingdom of genuine, noble manhood and womanhood

"Be what thou seemest; live thy creed;
Hold up to earth the torch divine;
Be what thou prayest to be made;
Let the great Master's steps be thine.
Fill up each hour with what will last;
Buy up the moments as they go;
The life above, when this is past,
Is the ripe fruit of life below."

Life and its possibilities! Life and its responsibilities! Who can justly appreciate them? We come from God, and to Him do we return. The grave is but a comma in the punctuation of the soul's history. Possibilities, how they throng upon our vision! an innumerable host, that no man can number. Every moment if freighted, every life is crowded with them. Who can ascend their heights, or sound their depths, or define their boundaries, or name or number them? No one is poor, who masters life's possibilities. He is a multi-millionaire. He possesses that which does not perish, a crown that will not fade, a kingdom that will never pass away. He is God's nobleman, and heir to His estates that fill the universe. I would have your eye kindled with the light of faith, your heart glow with the enthusiasm of a holy zeal, as you view the Canaan of your eternal heritage, a land of more than "silk and honey." Therefore, "Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest" Yea, look beyond, and above, "unto the hills, whence cometh our help. Our help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth." The divine resources are pledged, in eternal covenant, for your aid, Heaven and earth are brought into tribute for your ateistance. Nature and grace, both lay before you "stepping-stones" to the table lands of life's possibilities.

"For us the winds do blow. The earth doth rest, heaven move, and fountains flow. Nothing we see but means our good as our delight or as our treasure. The whole is either our cupboard of food or cabinet of pleasure.

"Since then, my God, thou hast so brave a palace built. O dwell in it, that it may dwell with thee at last! Till then afford us so much wit that as the world serves us we may serve thee, and both thy servants be."

Circus Invades Gold Fields.

The Sells-Floto circus was the first big show to ever invade the Nevada gold fields and their success was enormous. A branch railroad recently completed enters this field, which is composed principally of mining camps and as a venture the circus management gave the towns a trial. On account of the high prices of food, etc., the price of admission was increased to $2, which the natives gladly paid and they also bought anything that was offered them by the fakirs with the show. Wood for the cook tent was purchased at $35 a cord, and bread in 1,000 loaf lots was sold to the circus men at 10 cents a loaf.

Death of a Child.

Friday morning at 5 o'clock the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klinger died at his parents home on Penn street. The little boy had been ill with whooping cough and pneumonia and Friday morning he was found in his little cradle.

Robert Malin Klinger was 2 years and 5 months old. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon and interment were made in the Union cemetery.

JACOB FROM SET FREE

Evidence Against Him Inconsistent and Unreliable.

WALKED HOME FREE

After the Most Diligent Investigation in Which no Efforts or Expense have been Saved.

WILL THE MURDERER BE CAUGHT?

On Friday morning March 1st Jacob From and his 17 year old son James were arrested by Chief Detective Millard of Philadelphia, who accused him of murdering Josiah Dale on the Nittany mountains November 12th 1906. From claimed from the time he was arrested that he was innocent of this crime and that he could prove that he was innocent at a trial. His son James was released at the habeas corpus hearing on bail, while the evidence produced by some unreliable parties held Jake for trial. We interviewed the prisoner time and time again and the statement he gave us the first Saturday after his arrest never varied one bit from all the rest he gave out. His wife on her dying bed and the last words she ever uttered were to the effect that her husband was innocent and that God would help him prove to the world that he did not committ this crime.

But never the less the fellow was held. Detective after detective hounded the fellow and could find nothing against him. The evidence they had up their sleeves, as they said they had was a big bluff and the whole thing has cost the county several thousands of dollars, and the murder is as much of a mystery today as it was the night it was committed.

Jacob From was released from jail on Monday shortly after dinner, he was a happy man, and as he missed the afternoon train going over to Centre Hall, he "hiked" it across the mountain. He went back to his home again, a man scarred, we pity the fellow from the bottom of our hearts. The home he left is no doubt cheerless now as his good wife is no longer there, she has gone to her rest. But in our last conversation with Jake in the jail, he said, "when I get out of here I am going to live a better life," and we honestly believe the fellow means what he said, at least we hope so.

Now that the Commmonwealth has failed to bring From to trial, no doubt some other arrests will be made, but we certainly do hope they will do away with the detective business as they have utterly failed to accomplish any results, except poor old Pete Rider, and any small sch ol boy could have gone down there and arrested him. The county has been placed at a great expense already and it is to be hoped some other way will be used to capture these villians and outlaws. Below we publish the decision of the Court in the case.

THE ALUMNI RECEPTION

Held in the Armory on Tuesday evening.

The armory was the scene on Tuesday evening of one of the most pleasant social functions of the season, and any one who did not know what was going on and would have looked in at the door would have thought the "400" of New York had come to Bellefonte. The beautiful gowns, pretty faces, magnificent forms, delightful music and all helped to make the occasion one long to be remembered.

The Alumni Reception and Banquet to the Graduates of the Bellefonte High School is becoming more popular and more largely attended every year. The large Armory of Company B, 5th Regt. was transformed from the cold, dreary drill house, to a ball room of grandeur. Old Glory was used in many places to cover up the brick walls, and from the heavy rafters hung beautiful stripes of bunting. Around the stage, walls and galleries were strung great clusters of flowers and spruce.

For those who did not dance, comfortable chairs had been supplied for them. Smith's orchestra that has won so much fame throughout Centre county was present and delivered the goods to perfection. The gathering was a mixture of the Bellefonte people but on this occasion social standing was set aside and the young lady in the humble walks of life was recognized the same as the one who is surrounded with luxuries.

The gowns worn by some of the ladies were magnificent, we noticed one especially that seemed to be commented on by a great many for its beauty and fit. It was made of yellow satin covered with a silk net. Other ladies were dressed in pink, blue, lavender, white and black silks. Taking it all in all the assembly had the prettiest lot of ladies ever gathered together in Bellefonte.

The dancing began about 9:30 and lasted until the wee small hours of this morning. The list of dances included 20 and 4 extras. The committee in charge certainly deserve much credit for the successful manner in which the whole affair was carried through. About midnight excellent refreshments were served by Mr. Ceader, Bellefonte's up-to date caterer. The young ladies and gentlemen who had the affair in their hands are as follows.

Mr. Bert Robb, Chairman,
Miss E. Crissman,
Miss H. Shaeffer,
Miss D. Barnes,
Miss A. Olewine,
Miss E. Rankin,
Miss J. Longacre,
Miss L. Brackbill,
Miss P. Knisely,
Miss E. Meyer,
Miss B. Brouse,
Mr. C. Barnes,
Mr. J. Dersime,
Mr. J. Harshbarger,
Mr. P. Wetzel,
Mr. M. Walker,
Mr. E. Gates,
Mr. C. Ray.

The ladies and gentlemen that received with the Graduating class were as follows, Mrs. J. Calvin Meyer Mrs. Mitchell I. Gardner. Mrs. Roger Brouse, Prof. John Meyer, Supt. of the Bellefonte Public Schools and John Bower Esq., President of the Alumni Association.

Brown and Schad to The Front

The estate of the late Edward C Humes, represented by William P. Humes and his sister, Miss Mira. have sold their property on Spring and Lamb Street, (adjoining property owned by W. Fred Reynolds, and the Electric Light Company,) to Albert J. Schad and William H. Brown. After which the purchasers resold to the Electric Light Co. the vacant lot adjoining their building. In addition to the houses already on the property (and included in the purchase of Schad and Brown) they expect to erect several more houses for rent, facing both Spring and Lamb streets, with all modern conveniences, plans of which are in preparation by Architect, Robt. Cole. So that this part of Bellefonte will be much improved in the near future and the houses will no doubt, will be as quickly rented. The deal was consummated last week.

Mrs. Lizzie Smith Dead.

Monday morning shortly after eight o'clock, Mrs. Lizzie Smith passed into the great beyond. She made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rider at Coleville and for quite a long time she has been a patient sufferer with a complication of diseases. She has one son living in Jersey Shore. She was about 68 years of age.

GRADUATING EXERCISES

ON THE THRESHOLD

Was The Class Motto The Large Hall was Beautifully Decorated. Full List of Prizes.

MANY PEOPLE IN ATTENDANCE

The Petrikin Hall was crowded Wednesday afternoon with friends of the young ladies and gentlemen who graduated from the Bellefonte High School. The large auditorium was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, laurels and cut flowers. The class colors, maroon and black were draped in a pretty manner across the stage. The young ladies and gentlemen of the class presented a beautiful scene from the audience as they sat in a semi-circle on the stage. We would like to go into detail and give an account of every address and essay delivered but time and space will not allow us to do so. Below we give a complete list of prizes awarded to the different students.

The General Excellence prize given by Col. W. F. Reynolds to that member of the Graduating class who shall maintain the highest standing during the course through the High School, has been awarded to Clair M. Seibert.

The Biographical prize of ten dollars offered by Mr. J. C. Meyer to that member of the Senior class who writes the best series of three essays on prominent Americans has been awarded to Miss Harriet E. Ray.

County to Pay Costs; Not in Columbia.

"We propose to break up the practices of returning criminal cases to court, when the suits never ought to have been brought, and will in no circumstances permit the costs to be placed on the county. There has been much of it." These were the words of Judge Evans in motion court at Bloomsburg, on Saturday morning when he refused a petition to place the costs on the county in the case of the Commonwealth against Bessie Harrison.

Always Dilute Lemon Juice.

The lemon is one of the most nutritious and healthful of any of the citron fruits. As a medicine it is invaluable, being especially recommended for billiousness. It is important, however, to dilute the juice with water and sugar to get the best medical resuls, as the acidity of the juice in its natural state is too strong for the tissues of the stomach. It also injures the enamel of the teeth when not diluted. A lemonade taken before breakfast an just before retiring is said to be very healthful.

MISS MILES AND MISS SHUEY.

Win the Reynold's Prize in the Oratorical Contest.

On Monday evening the Petrikin Hall was crowded with Bellefonte citizens to hear the orations delivered by the Junior Class of the Bellefonte High School.

At 8 30 every chair in the large hall was occupied and standing room was a premium. The large hallway was crowded with people anxious to hear, in fact it was the largest crowd ever in the Petrikin Hall.

The stage was decorated beautifully with the class colors white and light green. Large bouquets of snow balls and other pretty flowers adorned the stage. Against the wall at the extreme rear of the stage hung "Old Glory," the prettiest flag the world ever saw. Grouped in a semi-circle were the young ladies and gentlemen, looking just as pretty and charming as the flowers. The music by Mr. Christy Smith's orchestra was delightful and was very much appreciated by the large audience.

Everyone of the young ladies and gentlemen certainly did well and it must have been quite a task to really tell who did the best.

Miss Besse A. Miles had the honor of receiving the first prize while Miss Rachael Shuey carried off the second prize. Mr. Harold B. Gardner, Mr. Ivan V. Walker and Mr. Ogden Malin were mentioned very favorably by a great many through the audience. To get up before an audience such as had gathered in the Petrikin Hall on Monday evening and deliver an oration in the manner these young folks did was no child's play and they certainly deserve much credit for the work and time they must have devoted in preparing their addresses. We congratulate every one of the young folks, and only wish that everyone could have received a prize. The program was as follows.

Mr. Charles Goes to Ridgeway.

Grant Charles the popular young clerk at the Bush House has resigned his position there and has accepted one at Ridgeway. He will become head clerk in the Hyde House one of the most popular and up-to-date hotels in the State of Pennsylvania. We feel sorry to lose Mr. Charles from our midst as he has become very popular among our younger set. He has proven himself a perfect gentleman in every way and since coming to Bellefonte has won many warm friends. In his work at the hotel he has been most proficient and Mr. Daggett the proprietor speaks of him in the highest terms. Of course Mr. Charles is receiving a higher salary where he is going than what he is getting now, and that is what we are all working for these days. We feel sure he will be successful in his new field of work and we heartily recommend him to the people of Ridgeway. He will leave Bellefonte about the 10th of June.

Lutheran Minister Dies Suddenly.

Rev. I. M. McGann of Lewisburg died on Monday evening very suddenly in the Mary M. Packer Hospital at Sunbury. Rev. McGann delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon to the Graduating Class at Lewisburg on Sunday evening and on Monday was in the best of health. He went down to Sunbury to attend the Lutheran Synod now in session in that city and took part in the services. In the afternoon he had a stroke of appoplexy. He was taken to the hospital where he passed away at 8:30 Monday evening. Rev. McGann very well known in Bellefonte and his many friends here will be shocked to hear of his untimely death. # PITTSBURG CONFERENCE

17th Annual Meeting of The Pittsburg District Of The A. M. E. Church.

CONFERENCE IN SESSION

Rt. Rev. W. B. Derrick D. H. of Flushburg N. Y. Bishop and Rev. W. B. Anderson B. D. Pittsburg Pa,. Presiding Elder. Communion and Organization

PROCEEDINGS REPORTED IN FULL

The third day's session of the District Conference of the A. M. E. church convened Friday morning at 9 o'clock and opened with devotional exercises led by Rev. J. S. Smith, of Pittston, after which business was entered into by the calling of the roll and reading of minutes of the previous day's session, which were received and adapted.

After the reading of a delayed report, a paper on the symposium:—"Should infant baptism and membership be encouraged in the church, if so, why?" was read by the Rev. J. H. Accoee, D. D. in which he ably presented the idea that children are never too young to be received as members of the church.

Mrs. Cora Taylor, soprano soloist of Williamsport, favored the conference with a most beautiful selection, touchingly rendered, entitled, "Oh, What a Change when I Shall See His face," which was highly appreciated by her hearers.

A discussion on, "Pastors Visitations—Should they be made Discriminately, or how?" was opened bp Dr. P. A. Scott.

Rev. Harrington followed with the statement that any pastor who has not the spiritual or moral courage to enter into all homes in his charge indiscriminately had better give up his credentials as a servant sent by the Heveniy Father to do His will. Rev. Powell set forth some very excellent reasons why some discrimination should be made in pastorial calls. Rev. Till expressed his opinion that time should be formed to visit every home indiscriminately. Rev. Jeffries said that when duty calls, pastors go, even to the gates of Hell. Rev. Townsend presented a happy medium in that pastors should exercise great discretion in their visitations. Rev. Accoee suggested as a remedy in large charges where it is impossible for a pastor to visit all homes, that an assistant pastor should be engaged.

An appropriation of $5,00 was made to the Christian News for the publication in full of the proceedings of the body.

Rev. C. J. Powell read an interesting paper on the "Conditions of Our Public Schools."

Discussion by Rev. Scott, stating that while our children were fully capable of acquiring to the standard of the Caucasian race, they are not given a fair chance in the public schools of today and asked what shall be done? Rev. Morton, in an enthusiastic manner, pointed out that the solution of the problem was the institution and maintenance of separate schools. Rev. Accoee thereupon took the opposite view, insisting that the schools should remain mixed and we should agitate the fact of partiality and contend for our rights as citizens of the United States.

During this session the photographer took a negative of the Conference assembled in front of the church, The finished photos can be secured from the photographer or through Rev. C. P. Harrington.

AFTERNOON.

The Woman's Mite Missionary Jubilee Service was held. opening at 3 o'clock with Mrs. C. P. Harrington in the chair. After the opening exercises papers were read on different subjects pertaining to Missionary work by Mrs. Blanche Colson, of Williamsport and Miss Helen Jackson, of Pittsburg both of which were extremely fine. Then followed a solo by Mrs. Cora Taylor Miss Leah Woodson read a magnificent paper on "The Junior Mite Missionary Society and Its Work," which was heartily commended and appreciated by the audience. Miss Lewis delighted the audience with a beautiful vocal solo. Rev. Accoee addressed the meeting with very encouraging and commending words, and was followed by several others. After lifting a liberal collection for the encouragel ment of the cause of missions the meeting adjourned.

EVENING.

The last session of this Conference was duly opened at 8 o'clock with Rev. W. B. Anderson, B. D., Presiding Elder, in the chair, with a song service conducted by Rev. Harrington and others. Prayer was offered by Rev. E. A. Walden, after which the chair introduced Rev. Accoee, in the absence of Dr. Townsend, to open the discussion on the subject: "Revivals and How to Conduct Them." Following him were Revs. Harrington, Newman and Jones, all of whom expressed somewhat similar ideas with a different manner of putting them into practice.

The field was well covered and it is to be hoped that the advice give will be accepted, put into practice and produce satisfactory results.

Rev. Mayle then spoke on the Normal work of the Sabbath Schools of the District, over which he has charge, reporting favorably.

While the choir rendered some soul stirring selections a collection amounting to $10 was lifted.

After the report of the finance committee and a few well chosen words of parting from the chair, a most pleasant and profitable District Conference was adjourned sine die by the singing of the Doxology and the pronouncing of the benediction by the Presiding Elder.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, bid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retorversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

Sometimes I was completely prostrated and helpless. Doctors and medicines failed to help me and the pain continued until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. ### THE COLD BATH.

Many Men Say They Like It, but They Don't Like It.

In a paper read at a meeting of an association for the study of tuberculosis an eminent doctor said that one of the curious facts connected with the practice of the cold bath in the morning is that so many of its votaries positively declare that they enjoy it. He contends that they do not and cannot enjoy it. The doctor is doubtless right as far as he goes, but he does not go far enough. He misses the main point, perhaps the only point worth emphasizing.

There is abundant reason to believe that the most curious fact connected with the cold bath in the morning is that so many people who insist that they enjoy it do not take it. There is vicarious atonement, and there is also vicarious bathing, and it is a very easy matter to enjoy a bath that is not taken, the bath of somebody else. Almost anybody gifted with a little imagination can sing the praises of a cold bath in the morning. There are the pleasurable, even delightful, shudders of the first dip and splash; the brisk rub with a coarse crash towel; the warm, health giving glow; the new man feeling, exhilarating, uplifting, as one gets into his attire for the day's work, and, above all, the sense of cleanliness imparted by the cold bath every morning.

And it is equally easy to take a cold bath every morning. It only remains to turn on the hot water faucet and enter the tub. Or both faucets may be turned on and, without entering the tub, one may stir the water violently with his hands, draw long breaths and shiver, not perceptibly, but audibly. It will all sound remarkably lifelike, this performance, wonderfully like taking a cold bath. Even an alert and suspicious sentinel, stationed at the door, his ear delicately attuned to what is going on within, may be readily deceived by the cold bath in the morning.

Contemplate, some broiling August forenoon, the man who tells you that he fairly revels in the cold bath on winter mornings as he gingerly steers his bare feet through the ripples that are lazily lapping the beach at a shore resort, and believe in him and trust him if you can. Watch him advance as if he were going to meet his doom, hesitate, glance shoreward longingly, retreat, immersing himself slowly, reluctantly, inch by inch. Suddenly he remembers that he must wet his head if he would avoid a chill, and he pauses to shampoo his hair in the sad sea waves—this hero of a thousand frigid baths on a thousand frozen mornings!

As a matter of fact, what a man may do alone with his sponge in his bathroom no other man may know, and what he pretends he does may be as "false as dicers' oaths."—Providence Tribune.

For the Future.

The secret of happiness is inward. People had good times when there were no friction matches, no brilliantly illuminated streets, no steamboats or railroads, no sewing machines, no postage stamps, no comfortably heated homes, no telegraphs or trolleys. The elements of happiness are not in things, but in human nature itself. But the fairer conditions, the greater opportunities, which the marvelous modern inventions afford to the masses of our humanity should augment our joy and expand our hopes. The most obvious fact of human history is that of progress. The race is following a flying and a growing ideal. It is inspired and saved by hope. Every helpful invention, every improvement of sanitary conditions, every new ray of intellectual and spiritual illumination, every scientific achievement, every amelioration of physical suffering, every new avenue of enjoyment, every victory of righteousness, every faithful deed in lowly and lofty places, increases the splendor and the power of our vision of the future.—Leslie's Weekly.

A Confirmed Pessimist.

Miss Cheerie—Well, auntie, you're looking much improved today. Are you feeling better? Mrs. Kronick—No, I ain't no better. Mebbe I'm not so bad as I was, but I ain't a bit better.—Cleveland Leader.

Cleverness is serviceable for everything, sufficient for nothing.—Amiel.

A Joyous Moment.

"There is my last poem," said the young but melancholy contributor.

"Thank the Lord!" replied the dignified editor as he clung to his chair that he might not dance a hornpipe.—Detroit Free Press.

An Invitation.

"Mabel," he said, "I love you. I place my happiness in your hands"—

"For goodness sake," she cried pleadingly, "don't do it now!"

"Why not?"

"Because I'm quite sure I'll need both hands in a minute or so to keep you from kissing me."—Philadelphia Press.

An Adage Vindicated.

"Where there's so much smoke there must be some fire."

The boss was speaking. He had just detected the office boy consuming a cigarette on the premises.

The adage was verified immediately. The boy got the fire.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Very Worst.

Schoolmistress—Now, tell me the truth, Johnny Jones. You know what will happen if you tell a lie, don't you? Johnny Jones—Yes, ma'am; I'll go to a bad place. Schoolmistress—Yes, and that isn't the worst of it. You'll also be expelled from school.

THE MONKFISH.

This Glutton Has Many Names and an Appalling Appetite.

Among the most curious of fishes is one known on the coast of Maine as monkfish, by Massachusetts fishermen as goosefish, by Rhode Islanders as the bellows fish, in Connecticut as the molligut, in North Carolina as the allmouth. On the other side of the Atlantic it is called wide gut, kettle maw and other names. Its adult length is about four feet, its weight about forty pounds.

The fish is a glutton, with no finely discriminating palate. It is said to bolt the wooden buoy of a lobster pot with an apparent satisfaction equal to that with which it swallows a mackerel.

Dogfish, sculpens, squids, crabs and lobsters are items in its ordinary diet. Its Massachusetts name is said to have been given it because of its practice of swallowing geese. Seven wild ducks are said to have been taken from the stomach of one of these fish, which had pulled them down one by one from the surface of the water.

The fish habitually lurks upon the bottom, though it is occasionally seen near the surface. It is sluggish in its ordinary movements, but very quick and ready with its powerful jaws and well fitted by nature for its mode of life. Its margins have long fringes, which sway in the currents like vegetable sea growth, deceiving the unwary prey.—Philadelphia North American.

Carrie Nation was in Altoona.

The passenger trainmen and employees about the local depot will hereafter (probably) cut out smoking and chewing, as they were Thursday morning given a severe lecture upon the evil of the habit. It was all because the famous Carrie Nation paid the city a brief visit Thursday morning, and the employees about the passenger station were unaware that she was coming.

Carrie arrived on No. 87, Altoona Accomodation, at 9:25 Thursday morning, having Wednesday night been at Mifflin, where she delivered a lecture, sold numerous hatchets and incidentally knocked the cigars out of the mouths of two prominent citizens. She came up on "The Shooter" and laid over here until 10:55, when she took the fast Harrisburg and Pittsburg Express for Pittsburg, her next point of attack.

While at the depot, Carrie very forceable expressed her opinion of smoking and chewing and, finding a Middle division brakeman with a cigarette in his mouth, tore it from him and stamped it under her feet. She has not been in Altoona since she appeared at a carnival here a few years ago, but looks as natural as ever and was greeted at the depot by numerous people who met her on her former visit to the city.

Eagle and Trout Puzzle the Court.

Must trout be killed and eaten as soon as caught, or can they be kept alive in captivity by individual sportsmen? Can bald eagles be shot? Those are the questions that the courts will be required to answer in the case of the commonwealth vs. A. M. Dimmick a local sportsman, says a Wilkesbarre dispatch.

Dimmick hunted in Wyoming county recently and killed a bald eagle. A game warden pursued him to his home and arrested him for shooting the bird In the Dimmick residence he saw a small acquarium filled with speckled beauties, and he added the charge of keeping trout alive in captivity to the charge of killing an eagle.

Alderman Brown fined Dimmick $10 and costs for killing the eagle at a hearing, but refused to pass upon the trout question. Dimmick appealed the fine, declaring that the eagle is without protection from the law. He also maintained that it is as legal to feast one's eyes upon the beauty of a trout as to make a feast for the stomach, and will fight the case in court.

PRIMARIES TO BE HELD JUNE 1st.

No Voter will Receive Assistance Unless He makes Oath that he Cannot Read Mark Ballot.

Many inquiries are being made for information about the new primaries law now in effect, and which will be put into operation on June 1st. As the time is growing short, and the voters have had no opportunity to study the provisions of the art. The Daily News herewith presents some of the more important features of the act:

Through the provision of the new primaries act which will be generally observed in the state, the spring primary election in this and all other counties will be held Saturday, June 1st at which time candidates for all offices to be filled at the general elec- next November, with the exception of those nominated by national and state conventions, will be nominated, as well as the offices of the varies political parties.

The election will be conducted in the various districts by the regular election officers. The polls will be open from 2 to 8 p. m., while all licensed places must be closed from 1 to 9 p. m.

The county commissioners are required under the act to provide the ballots and other necessary supplies All the expense incurred through the election are to be paid by the county which in turn will be reimbursed by the state.

All candidates for county offices must file petitions with county commissioners at least three weeks before the primary election. Each petition must have at least 50 signatures of qualified voters. The county commissioners shall have on file in their office, at least one week preceeding the primary, open to public inspection forms of the ballots with the names printed thereon, which shall be used in each election district within the county.

The qualification of electors entitled to vote at a primary shall be the same as the qualifications of electors entitled to vote at elections within the election district where the primary is held.

One of the changes which goes into effect at the June primary is "that no elector shall be permitted to receive any assistance in marking his ballot unless he shall first make an affidavit that he cannot read the names on the ballot or that by reason of physicial disability he is unable to mark his ballot."

At the polls on June the 1st Democrats will call for Democratic ballots and Republicans for Republican ballots. Democrats cannot vote for Republican candidates nor Republicans for Democratic candidates. Any voter who attempts so to do will be subject to challenge and his vote rejected.

Another Freak Calf.

A cow belonging to Samuel Smith, of Chatham, recently gave birth to a calf without hind legs or hips. It is said it walks quite handily when the hind parts are held off the ground, and the owner proposes to construct and attach a two-wheeled cart or some such device, so that it may be able to at least amble about the pasture some. -- Wellsboro Gazette.

Circus At Pleasant Gap.

On Wednesday afternoon and evening the J. R. Smith's traveling circus will show at the Gap. The show is a wagon aggregation and comes from Lewistown. It is said to be one of the finest of its kind on the road. The large tent will be pitched in a field back of Mulfingers. At one time these kind of shows were all to the mustard and you can get more satisfation and benifit from a small circus than you can from the ones using fifty and sixty cars Wednesday afternoon and evening May 29, at Pleasant Gap.

Pretty Home Wedding

On Wednesday evening Miss. Sarah Carter daughter of Mrs. Lettie Carter became the wife of Mr. Harvey Jones of Danville. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Harrington of the African Methodist Episcopal church. It was a quiet affair; only the immediate friends of the two families being present to witness the happy wedding nuptials. The bride was dressed in a white silk trimmed in silk lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended as bridesmaid by Miss Elsie Green and Mr. William Carter acted as bestman. After the the wedding ceremony was performed the bridal party partook of a splendid wedding dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left on the Lewisburg train this afternoon on a wedding tour to Baltimore, Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia, after which they will make their home at Danvill, where the groom has a house already furnished for his bride

Mr. Jones is a brick layer by trade and a man having an occupation of this kind these days certainly demand large wages. We wish the happy young couple much joy through this life.

Deafness Cannot b Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Igneous Rocks.

Igneous is derived from the Latin word ignis, meaning fire, and igneous rocks are those which geologists say were produced through the action of heat. Igneous rocks are divided into two great groups, volcanic and plutonic. The volcanic, as the name implies, are those brought to the surface by volcanic action, while the plutonic are those which have solidified below the surface of the earth and have been exposed by the wearing away of the strata above them.

An Explanation.

"Effie," said Margie, who was laboriously spelling words from a first reader, "how can I tell which is a 'd' and which is a 'b'?"

"Why," replied Effie wisely, "the 'd' has its tummy on its back."—Harper's Weekly.

The Change.

"You certainly look better. You must have followed my advice and had a change."

"Yes, doctor, so I have."

"Where did you go?"

"I went to another physician."

Wouldn't Waste Time.

An assumed critic on etiquette says an invitation to dine should be accepted the same day. Any chump knows that much. We'd have an answer in the postoffice within ten minutes.—Yates Center (Kan.) News.

Piles get quick and certain relief Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. Please note it is made alone for Piles, and its action is positive and certain. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Large nickle-capped glass jars 50 cents. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

Contains Honey and Tar, pleasant to take. Children like it. Conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

—Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for organic diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood—cures the cause—builds you up.

A little Kodol taken occasionally, especially after eating, will relieff sour stomach, belching and heartburn. J. B. Jones, Newport, Tenn. writer; "I am sure one 3 dollar bottles of your Kodol positively cured me of of dyspepsia, and I can reccommend it as that was three years ago and I haven't been bothered since with it." Kodol is guaranteed to give relief. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

Waked Him Up.

"Fare!"

The passenger gave no heed.

"Fare, please!"

Still was the passenger oblivious.

"By the ejaculatory term 'fare,'" said the conductor, "I imply no reference to the state of the weather, the complexion of the admirable blond you observe in the contiguous seat, nor even to the quality of service vouchsafed by this philanthropic corporation. I merely allude in a manner perhaps lacking in delicacy, but not in conciseness, to the monetary obligation set up by your presence in this car and suggest that, without contempering your celerity with cunctation, you liquidate."

At this point the passenger emerged from his trance.—Columbus Dispatch.

Tree Fountain.

An extraordinary curiosity is to be seen in the Swiss village of Gunten, on Lake Thun. It takes the form of a natural tree fountain, the water flowing continuously from a spout high up in the tree. About twenty years ago the water from a spring was conducted through a shaft, and the supply pipe was directed through the cut trunk of a young poplar tree which was rammed in the ground. After a short time the trunk rooted, branches followed, and now there is a splendid top growth.

Another Office.

An apt and witty retort was that made to the colonel of a regiment on one occasion by an old Quaker aunt, to whom he was complaining. He was an unpopular officer filled with a sense of his own importance and most overbearing in his manner to his inferior officers, who disliked him heartily in return and in consequence shirked their duties whenever opportunity offered.

"I have a most unsatisfactory set of men under me," complained the young man, standing before the little old Quaker lady in a pompous attitude. "I am practically forced to do all the work which should be done by them a great part of the time. I am my own major, my own lieutenant, my own ensign, my own sergeant."

He stopped and frowned down upon his listener.

"And thee is thine own trumpeter also, William, I fear," said the old lady, with a twinkle in her eye.

The Hiss Polite.

The Japanese prince drew in his breath with a hissing sound as he bent over the young girl's hand.

"Prince," she said, "I have been up against a lot of Japanese, and they all hiss like that when they meet you. What's the reason, anyway?"

"The reason is politeness," the prince answered. "I hise—like this—I draw in my breath—I keep on drawing it in as long as I remain near you. For if I blow any out some of it might be blown in your fair face. What an offense! Shocking! And so we Japanese always hiss in exchanging greetings. Out of politeness we hold our breath."

So Sudden.

Old Farmer Jones Says.

The people want to live to high now adays to much pie, cake, ice cream phone, pudding, canned fog trimmed with melted rainbows then this here slippery stuff looks like frog eggs to me, I think they call it "papioca." If they would come up on the farm and eat soutz and knep and flitch potpie they would feel better and would not have to make a trip to the Philadelphia hospitals about once a year to be cured of dispepsia we started in to eat them cereals just after we were married but it took Betsy to long to sift the cabbage worms out of it before she cooked it and we just quit using it and the only thing we use now is a kinder stuff that looks like shavings I mean wood shavings that comes out of a plane then my wife did get a bottle of some kind of green plums that fell off before they were ripe and worm eaten they would make your face look like a tom cat eating persimmons or a pelican.

I just want to say a man must use political economy now a day on the farm, I happened in town tother day and just because I was using some binder twine to tie up part of my harness, a scribe or a pharasee said old man why don't you buy yourself some new harness, you put all you money in bank for your children to fight about after you are dead, well now what is that anybodys business if I do use binder twine for harness and go with out socks, sell all my hams and eat the flitches, drink buttermilk and sell the cream, use rye coffee and such, as long as there is no mortgages on my farms I'll do just as I like and don't need any life insurance policies to hurry me off the earth's surface.

Say do you know I saw something yesterday that made me laugh and that is unusual in my case, I happened to be walking up street behind Leander Green and John Klinger when Leander spied a pocketbook ahead of them lying on the pavement. John said it was his, that he had dropped it on his way to the school house, Leander being an official of course handed it to John who opened it and found nothing in it but a piece of news paper, about three rods further they came across a similar book when Leander said this must be your pocketbook, no John said you may have that one. Leander put it in his pocket and went home, went up stairs in the back room and pulled down the blinds and to his surprise found it contained twenty-three dollars, now Klinger is mad while Leander contemplates buying an automobile.

Well sir do you know I got in the dog gondest predicament you ever heard of four of my children began to get feathers all over them, regular pin feathers and the baby began to crow like a young rooster, and some of them were completely covered with chicken lice, now the funny part about this was, some had white and some had black feathers and really the old woman began to sett, while I kept crowing around to beat the band, we could not tell what we were coming to, we had the children pow wow'd and I just sent for a doctor and after he gave us all a "post mortification" hearing, made the wonderful discovery that we were using "chick feed" instead of oat meal.

I really think I have made my last trip to the city, I can't stand so much crowding and pushing about why some places there ain't enough room for a hens nest let alone cow pasture. I did not see a dozen hogs in the city, everybody just wants to run up and down the streets and show off their good clothes and ride around in the street cars, I was nearly insulted once while riding on a car, there was Harvey Lutz on his way to the Inlet at Atlantic City, Wade Cruse, Phip Waddle, Edward Robb and a few more sitting in the car, shortly three ladies entered the car, when Harvey said, Jones get up and give one of those ladies a seat. I said let John Knisely get up and they can all sit down.

Fell Into Good Hands

A few days ago William Doke, the deaf, dumb and blind lead pencil and shoe string vender of this place, started on a trip east and on Sunday afternoon reached Harrisburg. Of his reception there the Star Independent says:

Totally blind, deaf and dumb and otherwise impaired in health, William Doke, of Bellefonte, remarkable for the number of afflictions which he patiently suffered, attracted a crowd of people about him at Union station of the Pennsylvania railroad and for a time nickles and dimes were showered upon him.

Doke had been in Bellefonte for years and his health failing him he started east a week ago. Sunday he arrived in this city, where he was taken to the Salvation Army barracks. Monday afternoon he was escorted to the police station, where he explained afflictions to Colonel Hutchison of the police department

Although blind was able to write and was able to receive answers by the sense of touch. A number of people took the lead pencil which he carried and traced words on the palm of his hand. He would immediately answer these by writing upon a tablet which he carried.

EARLE C. TUTEN,

Old Farmer Jones Says.

Next Thursday will be decoration day again and the prospects for flowers is not very good but I suppose we can all go and hear the drums and watch the people, I mean all of us who are not engaged in base ball and fishing excursions and then there are some farmers who are to stingy to take the day off for fear they won t get a full days work out of their hired men but all will go who can, in honor of the departed soldiers, we expect the committee will send some young lawyer student to do the talking, some young man who was not rocked in the cradle until twenty five years after the close of the war, they will get up and begin to tell how everybody should love their country and die for it, if necessary, will also tell how his ancesters fought bled and died for this great free land of ours, how we freed the colored race and made them equal with us (when it comes to voting) yet they want to draw the color line and shed tears of imaginary sorrow so that after he is done talking, somebody will invite him on a good square meal, and the old women will take his hand and say what war was you through brother, and oh how many nights you must of suffered, while out on picket and say you must surely be our next governor of Pennsylvania because you are such a good talker, then the young man begins to swell up and tries to think how many votes he has made for his election.

Say aint it strange how a farmer has to work to raise wheat for all the city folks to make flour and furnish wheat to make shredded wheat biscuit and then we have to raise rye to make whiskey, but a good bit of whiskey is made out of potatoes, corn and any old thing, why when I was a boy they use to have distilleries all over the country the same as we have cider presses nowadays we would take a load of rye and have it distilled for the half then about fifty gallons would be put in our cellers for the winter, everybody drank it them days but there was no revenue on it then, it was pure, now it is nearly all manufactured out of drugs, oh what a time the Poo Poo gang would have if we were to go back to them good old times.

Yes the gook old times when a mans word was better than his note is now, and contract worth more than a mortgage on a church today? Then a farmer could go out and kill a turkey and often a deer and have meat for his family now if you see a rabbit eating your fruit trees and a bear carrying your live stock away or your children away you would not dare to kill them for fear of arrest, and do you know it wont be long until bears will be as thick as english sparrows around a straw stack, still they must be protected why don't the Legislature pass a law to protect them little sparrows from eating up my garden truck but the farmer is the last person to receive any consideration from the law makers but them bears must all be saved for the city people to try their fifty dollar guns, why we are more afraid of bears now than we was of the Indians when I was a boy it does seem the more law we have restricting the killing of game the scarcer game gets. I heard tell that they tried to raise skunks in Bellefonte once, then the mayor objected to them so handy and passed an ordiance prohibiting them from coming into the borough limits yet there are some auto's about as bad I do believe by Jenks. Them ere Bellefonte fellows are great for auto's, it wont be long until they will be running up here buying potatoes and cabbege and hauling them home in their autoe and some old timers, well I should say,

Two pole cats by the roadside sat,
As "Kilpatrick" auto, slipped by
It left an odor far from good,
Which made the pole cat cry.

Then one cat said onto his mate,
Why do you cry and quake
Because the smell replied his friend
Is just like mother useto make.

That little rain we got over Sunday was worth more to us farmers, than all the laws passed at the last Legislature.

Things are rather slow on the farm just at present until we get our corn planted. With the exception of a funeral or two right in corn planting, my wife attends all the funerals in twenty miles, our respect for the family, she says she likes to attend large funerals so there are more people to look at her, she says one good turn deserves another—that is what the little boy said when he was turning the grindstone.

Saturday night about eight o'clock my wife woke me up and said she was sure she heard an earth quake, but I told her to be quiet and listen again. Soon again the same rumbling sound was heard again. Well said I, that is just some of them fellows down at Hecla Club running across the wheat field to make the train at the water tank.

I met a lady a short time ago who had at least a half sheet tied around her head and I asked her if she had been struck by a train, no she said she had a tooth pulled and by the way, she said it did not cost her anything either. She said she went into a certain dentist and he examined her teeth, he said "madam you should have that tooth pulled," "yes" and she said "Doctor it will hurt, I'm afraid. Oh, said the doctor 'yes" If I thought it would not hurt I would pull it for nothing. "yes." Well said she, I believe you may pull it and after the doctor pulled and twisted for about five minutes succeeded in getting the thing out. Then the doctor said 25 cents please. Oh, said she it didn't hurt and you said you would pull it for nothing if it didn't hurt. The doctor said "yes, yes," and now she is braging how she worked the doctor "yes."

When coming to town the other day I noticed Doc Fravel out in front of the hospital with a new mowing machine. Tell you what he was a sweating and puffing. I told him he had better go in and cut that grass on that big round grave at the P. R. R. station. He laughed and said "why Jones that is a flower bed." Well said I, why in the darn nation don't they plant some holly hocks there then. I was talking to that message boy, I think he said his name was Nolan and he pointed out to me, a high hill, he said "Mr. Jones up on that hill, I lost my heart and I don't know what to do. It worries me so, and I think I will go to Pittsburg about the 12th of June and have one made of steel." I said foolish man to fall in love so young.

How doth the little busy bee fill up his little skull
and gather honey all the day for
Mr. Manuel Noll.

Cancelled Their Debt.

Bellefonte, Pa. May 29 1907

Editor of the Daily News.

DEAR SIR:

Please allow me space enough in your paper to inform the public of the result of the grand financial rally held in St. Paul's A. M. E. church of Bellefonte, Pa. on Sunday May 26th. Sunday in our church was known as Woman's day, at which time three services were held and conducted by the ladies of the church during the day with Mrs. C. P. Harrington, president, and Mrs. Gurtie Tremel, vice-president, the men did not have any part in the services except to respond to the financial appeals of the president and captains of clubs number 1 and 2. Prior to the rally day a very excellent program was arranged for the occasion, consisting of prayer, music, scripture reading and addresses and in this way the entire day was spent. In order that the public may have a clearer conception of our rally day.

We wish to say it was the closing up of a four months effort to liquidate the debt of $428 against our parsonage, and we are happy to announce to the public that the services of the day closed with very gratifying results as follows: Miss Maggie Valentine captain of number 1 club presented to the trustees cash $246.21 and Mrs. Katherine Green, captain of number 2 club, presented to the trustees cash $165.44, total amount for both clubs $411.65. At a meeting of the trustees on Monday evening May 27th, called by the pastor, Rev. C. P. Harrington, the accounts of our friend Abraham V. Jackson and brother Thomas Taylor were carefully audited with the following results; A. V. Jackson raised by public solicitation $43.75; brother Taylor raised by public solicitation $43.75, making a total raised by Jackson and Taylor $117.75. This amount was turned in to club number one as both solicitors were members of this club. The grand total raised from all sources is $433.65. The dept against the parsonage has been paid and the mortgage cancelled. We feel a deep sense of gratitude to God for his Divine guidance in our enterprise and also feel exceptionally grateful to this generous and benevolent public for their liberal patronage to our various entertainments given by clubs number one and two during the past four months. The public will please accept our sincere thanks for assisting in bringing to us the gratifycation of our long cherished hope for a more permanent home for our pastors in the future.

Signed Respectfully,

REV. C. P. HARRINGTON, pastor.

A Wolf Story Exploded.

The story emanating from the southern end of Blair county last week, relating to the killing of the last of the gray timber wolves that formerly infested this state, lacks, according to the statement of a naturalist in Tyrone yesterday, the essential truth in that it was not a Pennsylvania wolf at all.

When Walter L. Main's circus was wrecked near Tyrone thirteen years ago, among the wild animals that escaped and remained uncaptured were two cub timber wolves, both mails and branded with Mr. Main's initials. Nothing was heard of the two until about three years ago, when they were seen together and one of them was killed near Houtzdale. Its campanion escaped and, according to the statement of the gentleman above mentioned, is the identical gray wolf that belonged to Mr. Main's menagerie, because the pelt when taken to the Fittsburg Carnegie museum last Friday showed plainly the enitials "W. L. M." branded on the inside of the right forearm.

Aside from the known facts in regard to the escape of the wolves of Canada, of which these were two, frequently live to be forty years old.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in our American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of human maladies is well proven. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked to work so he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible that she might do the work and let him hunt. Therefore, he dug "papoose root" for her, for, that was their great remedy for female weakness. Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favorite Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective than any other medicine in curing all the various weaknesses and painful derangements peculiar to women.

Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table and the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Tenderness over the lower region, with backache, spells of dizziness, faintness, bearing down pains or distress should not go unheeded. A course of "Favorite Prescription" will work marvelous benefit in all such cases, and generally effect permanent cure if persisted in for a reasonable length of time.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure.

Benner—Stover.

Bishop Berry Misquoted.

In an article appearing in the North American last week and a condenced report appeared in the Lock Haven Democrat, which was afterwards cheerfully corrected, misquoting Bishop Berry in a sermon he delivered before a large Epworth League gathering. It may be that some Bellefonte people read the same piece and we wish to publish a statement made by the Bishop in which he denies the report. It was written to H. T. Ames of Williamsport and afterwards published in the Lock Haven Democrat. It is as follows:

I enclosed your article to Bishop Berry and have his reply therto before me. The Bishop says: "I made no reference to amusements in my sermon—not one word. The dispatch is a lie made out of whole cloth. I stand where I have stood for twenty years, the most rabid and uncompromising foe of card playing, dancing, etc., in the Methodist Episcopal church."

I feel sure you will do the Bishop and the Epworth League the Justice of publishing this denial of Bishop Berry's.

Yours truly.

DEATH OF JOHN J. GOHEEN.

One of the Oldest Citizens of the County Gone Home.

On Friday at 5 o'clock the life of John J. Goheen passed into the other world. He was probably the oldest gentleman in Centre county and has always lived at Rock Spring. When a small boy he united with the Presbyterian church and has lived according to that faith ever since. He was a son of Joseph Goheen a pioneer settler of Pennsylvania. In 1844 he was married to Sarah Rider of Gatesburg who died in 1891. John J. Goheen was the father of the late Rev. Miligan Goheen who passed away quite recently.

He was a successful farmer and was highly respected among the agriculturist of the county. When the Civil war broke out he was to old to go to the front but with his drum he led the boys of Co E, 45th Regiment to Camp Curtin at Harrisburg. He was born on the old homestead in 1818. The funeral will take place on Monday at 1 o'clock. Interment at Gray's cemetery. His pastor Rev. R. M. Campbell, of Graysville will officiate, assisted by Rev. J. C. Kelley of Hollidaysburg, and Rev. John Oliver of Pittsburg

State Wins Meet.

In their annual dual track meet with Lafayette State won Saturday by the score of 56—48. Lafayette had a shade the better of it in the field events. But State evened up on the track. Henry and Shaeffer drew a dead heat in the 440 yd dash being the most exciting race. Smith of State prep, carried off the two mile run in a handy fashion. Strayer had an easy time in the pole vault.

Hi Henry the captain of State's team took sick just before the meet but despite this he entered the race and made a good showing. Had he been in good condition he would have carried off at least three events. Shaeffer was the star for Lafayette getting two first and one second to his credit. Yeckley the star half mile for State was unable to race on account of sickness and and an injured knee and the race was won by Paxon for Lafayette. Lee of the Maroon broke his own record is the high jump by two and one half inches. The time was very good considering the heavy track. It rained during the whole meet and made it very disagreeable for the contestants, following is the summary of the races and events.

100 yd dash—Shaeffer, Lafayette first; Henry State second; time 10 2-5

Killed at Clearfield.

Frank Morrison, telegraph operator, met with a sudden and horrible death on Wednesday evening in the New York Central yards, opposite the Harbison-Walker brick yards, in Clearfield. Morrison was literally ground to pieces by the wheels of train which struck him, as he stepped out of the way of another train. Both his legs and arms were cut off. His head was smashed into a pulp, and almost severed from his body.

The unfortunate young man, who was about thirty-five years of age, had been, until a few days before his death, in the employ of the New York Central Railroad company as a telegraph operator, at J tower, one-half mile east of Mahaffy. He went to Clearfield with the view of leaving later in the day for his home in Emporium.

Homer J. Justice Injured.

On Friday May 17 Homer Justice an old Bellefonte boy came near being killed near Blairsville, by being thrown from a train. Homer is a brakeman on the Pittsburg Division of the P. R. R. and when near this place he was in some way thrown from his train. He was picked up bleeding and suffering and taken to the Johnstown hospital. His head was found to be injured the most, and it required eight stitches to sew up the wound. His shoulders and hips were badly injured but after remaining in the hospital about ten days he was able to navigate and started for Bellefonte. He is getting along all right now and in a couple of weeks will be able to go back to work again. He is in Altoona today having his injuries dressed by the Penn. R. R. relief doctor.

One Question Too Much.

The servant problem was under discussion, and "experiences" were being related. Several women stopped talking at the same moment, and the silence, which had lasted nearly two seconds, was broken by a young matron, who said: "But, ladies, that's all nothing to what happened to me last week. My cook left me, you know, for no earthly reason except that she told the chambermaid we starved the help. The idea! Well, I went to the intelligence office and after a long search found the girl I wanted to take Maggie's place. She answered every question to my satisfaction until I asked her, 'Why did you leave your last place?' Then she got red in the face, threw her head back and said in an angry tone: 'Because I wanted a change. Why did your last cook leave?' And before I could answer she turned away, saying, 'You'll not suit.' Now, isn't that dreadful?' And then all the other women told "dreadful" stories.—New York Tribune.

An Ancient Irish Custom.

In the district known as "the barony of Forth," in County Wexford, Ireland, is to be found a race of hardworking, industrious peasants living in thatched cottages with clean, whitewashed walls which by their perfect whiteness at once arrest the attention of the visitor. These people differ in many respects from the inhabitants of the other parts of the same county and have habits and customs peculiar to themselves. When a funeral takes place two wooden crosses are provided. On the way to the cemetery a halt is made at a certain spot by the side of the road. Here prayers are said for the deceased, after which one cross is deposited in a hawthorn bush or under it. The procession then goes on its way, and after the interment the other cross is fixed at the head of the grave. This strange custom dates from time immemorial, as the great pile of crosses by the roadside indicates.

How to Stop Runaways.

The policeman had stopped the runaway very neatly. Now, though puffing a little, he was quite calm.

"It's nothing to stop a runaway," he said as he wiped his foam covered hands. "It is like jumping on or off a moving car—dead easy when you know how. What you want to do when you see a runaway tearing toward you is not to stand still, but to run all your might in the same way the nag's a-going. Then, when it catches up to you, you grab the bridle and keep a-running. Then you are not thrown, you are not trampled on, and in a minute or two the horse slows down. I've stopped a dozen runaways without an accident. It's part of our training, and the policeman who would refuse to take a chance would be disgraced the same as a soldier who would refuse to fight."—New York Press.

The Scope of Indigestion.

Indigestion is not only the most prevalent of all diseases, but is the most far reaching in its complications, says Dr. Latson in Health Culture. In recognition of this fact a brilliant medical man has said:

"There is but one disease—indigestion."

Cayenne Pepper.

In cayenne pepper we have a pure, energetic, permanent stimulant. Why not use it instead of whisky and brandy, which are not more energetic and are not permanent in their actions? says Therapeutics and Dietetics.

Like Father, Like Son.

The Living Skeleton—Why is the india rubber man so happy? The Fat Lady—Why, haven't you heard? He's the father of a bouncing boy!—Princeton Tiger.

A Muddy Day In London.

It has been calculated that the cost of a muddy day in London is something like $25,000. This is not surprising, says Tit-Bits, when one remembers that no fewer than thirty-two tons of mud are carried about from place to place on the wheels of carts and carriages and horses' hoofs. After a wet day the dry mud brushed from people's clothing amounts to fifteen tons, and a very similar amount is shaken out of the door mats. City mud, however, has its good points. The shoeblack increases his earnings in the muddy weather, and new silk hats and dresses and boots and shoes are each and all the direct outcome of its destructive qualities.

The Only Drawback.

Mary—Did she make a good match? Ann—Splendid! Lots of money, good social position and all that! In fact, the only drawback is the husband."

THE MONKFISH.

This Glutton Has Many Names and an Appalling Appetite.

Among the most curious of fishes is one known on the coast of Maine as monkfish, by Massachusetts fishermen as goosefish, by Rhode Islanders as the bellows fish, in Connecticut as the molligut, in North Carolina as the allmouth. On the other side of the Atlantic it is called wide gut, kettle maw and other names. Its adult length is about four feet, its weight about forty pounds.

The fish is a glutton, with no finely discriminating palate. It is said to bolt the wooden buoy of a lobster pot with an apparent satisfaction equal to that with which it swallows a mackerel.

Dogfish, sculpens, squids, crabs and lobsters are items in its ordinary diet. Its Massachusetts name is said to have been given it because of its practice of swallowing geese. Seven wild ducks are said to have been taken from the stomach of one of these fish, which had pulled them down one by one from the surface of the water.

The fish habitually lurks upon the bottom, though it is occasionally seen near the surface. It is sluggish in its ordinary movements, but very quick and ready with its powerful jaws and well fitted by nature for its mode of life. Its margins have long fringes, which sway in the currents like vegetable sea growth, deceiving the unwary prey.—Philadelphia North American.

Sandy's Narrow Escape.

"An hoo's the guid wife, Sandy?" said one farmer to another as they met in the market place and exchanged snuffboxes.

"Did ye no near that she's dead an buried?" said Sandy solemnly.

"Dear me!" exclaimed his friend sympathetically. "Surely it must have been very sudden?"

"Aye, it was sudden," returned Sandy. "Ye see, when she turned ill we had na time to send for the doctor, sae I gied her a bit pouther I had lying in my drawer for a year or twa an that I had got frae the doctor mysel', but hadna ta'en. What the pouther was I dinna verra weel ken, but she died soon after. It's a sair loss to me, I can assure ye, but it's something to be thankfu' for I didna tak' the pouther mysel'."—Dundee Advertiser.

Placing the Responsibility.

For six months or more the druggist's assistant had occupied his leisure moments by writing verses for the village paper, in the "poets' corner" of which publication they appeared anonymously every Thursday, says the Youth's Companion. On opening his copy of the Weekly Bugle one morning, and, turning first, as was his regular habit, to that particular corner, he was surprised and gratified beyond measure to see his name in full appended to his latest poetical outbreak.

He hastened to call at the office of the Bugle.

"Mr. Stires," he said to the editor, "I want to thank you for signing my name to my poem in this week's paper. It encourages a fellow when he gets proper credit for his work."

"Oh, that's all right, Jobson," responded the editor. "We thought it was about time to place the responsibility for that poetry where it be longed."

His "Richt" Name.

From queer names and descriptions of things there follow as a natural sequence queer names and descriptions of people. Among a number of racy instances is one quoted by Mr. Fox-Davies, the well known authority on nomenclature, from Blackwood's Magazine, of April, 1842. "In one of the Buchan fishing villages a stranger had occasion to call on a fisherman of the name of Alexander White. Meeting a girl, he asked, 'Can ye tell me fa'r Sanny Fite lives?' 'Filk Sanny Fite?' quoth she. 'Muckle Sanny Fite?' said he. 'Filk muckle Sanny Fite?' 'Muckle lang Sanny Fite.' 'Filk muckle lang Sanny Fite?' 'Muckle lang gleyed Sanny Fite!' shouted the exasperated man. 'Oh, it's Goup-the-Lift ye're seeking,' answered the girl, 'and fa' the de'il for dinna ye speer for the mon by his richt name at ance?'"

When the Astrologers Were Wrong.

Not all of the ancients were superstitious. "Where wilt thou spend Christmas?" asked Henry VII. of Evans, a noted astrologer. "May it please your majesty, I am unable to tell." "Then I am wiser than thou," said the king, "for I know it will be in prison." Another astrologer told John Gallezzo, duke of Milan, that he would die early. "And how long do you expect to live?" asked the duke in return. "My lord, my star promises me long life." "Never trust your star, man. You are to be hanged before night," cried the duke. And, sure enough, he was and that by being thrown out of a window at the end of a rope.

Her Postscript.

"Why does a woman always add a postscript to her letter?"

"Well," answered the ungallant wretch, "she probably figures out in her own mind what her letter has made you think and then tries to have the last word."

Had to Do It.

Mrs. Turnbull—It's too bad your husband cut off his flowing beard. Mrs. Crimple—Yes, he had to do it. I gave him a diamond scarfpin for a birthday present.

So Sudden.

Carsone—Would you like to own a puppy, Miss Cecelia? Cecelia—Oh, Mr. Carsone, this is so sudden!—Young's Magazine.

SHORTHAND.

The Quality That Appears to Be Lacking In All Systems.

The fatality of all systems of shorthand is that what seems easy to the eye of filial piety may be terribly difficult to the cold gaze of a stranger. Of the innumerable systems of shorthand that were the vogue a century ago how many survive today? asks a London writer. Fame and fortune still await the man or woman who can invent a system that will appeal to the reader as effectively as to the original writer. Perhaps if we were to rediscover the lost shorthand writing of the ancient Romans we might find ourselves on the road toward a solution of the problem.

For the Romans were on affectionate terms with shorthand. Did not Suetonius, speaking of Caligula, express surprise that an emperor of so many promising parts should nevertheless be an ignoramus in shorthand, and did not Titus Vespasianus pride himself on his facility in the use of stenography both for business and amusement? So fond was he of the sport that he delighted to gather his amanuenses around him in order that they should tilt against each other in the stenographic field. It may be that but for the rediscovery of the art in England toward the end of the sixteenth century the curious Pepys would not have been moved to write his diary.

VENEZUELA.

Beauty of the Country and the Impression It Leaves.

The beauty of the country is the first and the most lasting impression. To catch glimpses at every turn in the valleys of cloudy peaks, or when on the mountain side to see through the limpid air valley after valley between the protecting hills, to breathe this pure air, to know that summer is almost perpetual—he is only half a man who does not for a moment forget the needs of civilization in the intoxication of primitive nature. The loveliness of Venezuela is something different from that of the Andean ranges farther west and south. It is more tropical, and the mountains do not rise to the height in which the senses are stilled by grandeur, nor is there found so near the equator that ruggedness or gloom of solemnity which is one feature of the Rockies. It is a beauty of more human type, which can be enjoyed most when we know that man has his abode there. The Andes, the Alps or the Rockies are bold and austere. They need no life. Life is not meant for them. But such contrasts and changes as are constantly presented to the eye in these softened landscapes are more exquisite when man is pottering about on the surface trying to imagine that he is of some real importance on the earth.—Reader Magazine.

MARVELS OF WORKMANSHIP.

The Violins That Were Made by the Famous Old Masters.

The old masters used such care in the selection of the woods for their instruments that, having found a piece of wood of proper fiber and vibrational powers, they treasured every fragment, no matter how small, and rather than waste even a particle of such a strip they frequently constructed the backs and bellies of patches so delicately put together that "the seams are only discoverable by microscope, so perfect is the cabinetwork." It was ever the aim of the old masters to "marry" the back of hard sycamore, which produces the quick vibrations, and the belly of soft wood, producing the slower sound waves, in such a manner as to give the mellow but reedy timbre of the perfect instrument. Anatomically a violin made by an old master is a miracle of construction. It can be taken to pieces, patched, put together, repaired indefinitely and is almost indestructible. Repairing has been the means of exposing many clever forgeries. The inside of a violin made by Stradivari, Guarnerius or other old masters is as perfectly finished inside as outside, and the clumsy interior work of a forgery betrays an imitation at once.—Circle Magazine.

The Kaleidoscope.

Have you any idea what a wonderful thing a kaleidoscope really is? Did you ever catch yourself wondering how many different kinds of patterns could be formed by the little bits of colored glass which the instrument contains and which adjust themselves with such remarkable facility when the instrument is turned in the hand? A calculation has been made by a noted mathematician which we are sure will astonish readers. He shows that a kaleidoscope containing twelve bits of glass may be turned rapidly enough to make ten changes a minute day and night for ninety-one years and forty-nine days without exhausting the different combinations or the possibilities of getting a new figure on the next turn. If the number of pieces of glass be increased to twenty, a calculation shows that 462,880,899,576 years would be necessary to go through all of the changes of which it would be capable, the holder of the instrument turning all the while so as to get ten changes a minute and working day and night those millions of years.

Buddha's Six Essentials.

Buddha, who reformed the Hindoo religion more than 500 years before Christ, established for men six essentials of perfection—first, knowledge, used to distinguish the true from the false; second, energy, which is used to fight against the evils of the flesh; third, purity; fourth, patience; fifth, charity (i. e., loving kindness); sixth, almsgiving.

Then tell him about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Tell him how it cured your hard cough. Tell him why you always keep it in the house. Tell him to ask his doctor about it. Doctors use a great deal of it for throat and lung troubles.

"I had a terrible cold and cough and was threatened with pneumonia. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and it gave me quick and perfect relief. It is certainly a most wonderful cough medicine."—RENA E. WHITMAN, Sioux Falls, S. Dak.

ROBERT A. CASSIDY.

To be an Honorary Pall Bearer at Mrs. McKinley's Funeral.

Ex Mayor Robert A. Cassidy of Canton Ohio, father of Wilbur Cassidy of Bellefonte has been selected as one of the honorary pall bearers at Mrs. William McKinley's funeral. Mr. Cassidy was an honorary pall bearer at the late Presidents funeral and at the Presidents mother and brother Abner, and was selected before Mrs. McKinley's death to act in the same capacity at her funeral.

Mr. Cassidy and the late President were warm friends and the two families were intimately acquainted and visited one another very often. Their homes being only a short distance apart. Below is an article we clipped from the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The honorary ball bearers announced are: Judge Henry W. Harter, John C. Dueber, Joseph M. Beebele, Robert A Cassidy, George B. Frease, Austin Lynch, R. S. Shields and Judge C. Bow.

The first five were honorary pall bearers for President McKinley. The last three named take the place of the other three honorary pearers of McKinley—Justice William R. Day, who will attend the funeral as a personal friend and mourner of Mrs. McKinley, W. A. Lynch, deceased, and Judge T. T. McCarty, who is now ill. It is probable that an official detail may be sent here by the Federal Government to be the active bearers of the body from the house to the funeral car and from the car to the vault in the Westlawn cemetery.

The Pension Bill.

Harrisburg, Pa. May 24.—The old soldiers of Pennsylvania who favor the Cochran pension bill will be accorded a hearing by Gov. Stuart next Wednesday. A committee of Harrisburg veterans waited upon the governor this afternoon and arranged for the hearing. Except in this instance the governor will give no public hearings on the legislation awaiting his action after this week. He is working 18 hours a day on the bills left him by the legislature.

The pension bill is endangering the appropriations for public schools and good roads, and if approved for the full amount of $6,000,000, it will be necessary to reduce all other appropriations. The state revenues will not justify the approval of the pension bill and the appropriations for various other purposes. As a result the governor is expected to veto the pension bill in order that it may not be necessary to cut down the appropriations to the public and private charities. The old soldiers will ask the governor to reduce the appropriations for pensions to $2,000.000, but even this amount would be insufficient to take care of all veterans entitled to pensions by the terms of the bill.

Senator Elliot Rodgers of Allegheny, had a short talk with the governor today in the interest of the appropriations for the various institutions in his district. Mr. Rodgers also asked that the Mesta anti-bucketshop bill be signed.

"It is my bill," said the senator after leading the governor. "and I am very anxious that it become a law. No real argument has been or can be advanced against it. The bill is drastic, it is true, but it requires drastic measures to rid the commonwealth of those who prey upon the public, as the bucketshoppers are doing."

BARN FLOOR DANCE

Given at the Home of Mr. and Mrs Kellerman East of Town.

The cozy little country home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kellerman east of Bellefonte was the scene of a gay and happy occasion on Thursday evening. It was one of those old fashioned "barn dances".

The large barn had been put in shape, the mow around the place removed the machinery and wagons from the barn floor, and a half dozen large lanterns were hung from the rafters giving plenty of light for the dance.

Mr. Kellerman who is a professional violinist, furnished the music for the occasion. Corney Frell known all over the country as the best "caller" as ever traveled was in position and in harmony with the music he called out "Salute your partners, grand right and left, do the pause me law, then the highland fling, swing your partners" and so on the fun was kept up until the wee small hours of this morning.

During the evening refreshments were served that were enjoyed immensely by the large crowd present. The young folks were taken out to the Kellerman home and brought back by Charley Kellerman and his team of big gray horses, the trip was certainly enjoyed, as the evening was pretty, the horses in good shape and spirited and driven by a good driver. There is nothing like the good old country to have a royal good time, where they all join in the "Virginia reel" and the square dances

Horrid, Horrid Man.

Below is a little girl's composition on Men:

"Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear and have so many pockets. Men don't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. Men are more logical than women; also more zoological. Both men and women sprung from the monkey, but the women have certainly sprung farther than the men.

Pennsylvania's Water Power.

Bellefonte, Pa., May 24th '07

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

In my interview of May 22nd, I alluded to the fact that the water-power of Pennsylvania would in a few years support the common schools.

I prepared and Hon. Jerome T. Ailman introduced a bill for that exact purpose in the recent legislature. It was reported favorably from Committee, but on account of the delay and fight between the two Houses it did not reach a vote. It was however given considerable space in some Philadelphia papers.

That my view of it was not an overestimate is conclusively shown by the following extract from The North American of Thursday. This estimate leaves out the Allegheny and all its tributary water-power, which is at least equal to that specified in this extract

It is not a dream that the eternal God given water-power may pay for the schools and make every school district in the State a Peoples College. It will pay the poor tax too. God speed the day. Here is the extract:

"Nobody can doubt that, between Lock Haven and Columbia, enough power is running to waste in the Susquehanna river to move every railroad car, possibly every millwheel in Pennsylvania. Add in the north branch of the river the upper Delaware, the Juniata and the Schuylkill and consider the electrical force that may be generated! Probably there is a fall of not less than fifty or sixty feet in the Schuylkill alone between Phoenixville and Philadelphia, and only a little of the power is used. All the indications are that we are on the verge of a revolution in the production and application of power".—North American, May 23rd '07.

I ask you to print this, so that your readers may begin to acquaint themselves with the question of the coming industrial and tax-relief issues.

The many times that a water power can be rentilized is shown in the numerous places the Spring Creek water power is used.

Yours truly,
THEODORE P. RYNDER.

Awarded $1900 Damages

The case of Clara N. Taylor and Henry J. Myers vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad company, in which the plaintiffs sought to recover damages for the destruction of their buildings near Beech Creek, which they claimed was caused by a spark from a locomotive on the B. E. V. railroad, was concluded this afternoon. The jury retired shortly before noon and when court convened this afternoon had agreed upon a verdict, awarding the plantiffs damages in the sum of $1,930 50, which is the full amount asked for, with interest at 6 per cent, for a year and five months.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause—the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy, The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and the address, Binghampon, N. Y., on every bottle.

Better Cigar Values at Lower Prices Than Ever Sold Before

NATIONAL CIGAR STANDS

Important News for Smokers

Here's the National Cigar Stands' Proposition

Some 2,000 American druggists (the undersigned included in the number), have united in a new plan for conducting the cigar branch of their business.

Heretofore, each store has bought its cigars independently; usually from jobbers and in quantities necessarily small. The prices paid were loaded with from four to six unnecessary profits and were always on a small-quantity basis besides.

Now, these 2,000 stores have concentrated their cigar-buying power in a single, co-operative concern—the National Cigar Stands Company. These 2,000 stores and the National Cigar Stands Company which must provide them with cigars, becomes the largest single customer for tobacco ever known in the history of the cigar business.

Constitute The Greatest Retail Cigar Outlet On Earth

SOME N. C. S. EXCLUSIVE BRANDS
Unequaled in Quality for Price in the History of Cigar Retailing!

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Black & White: | equal to best 3 for 25c seed Havana | 5c |
| College Days: | best domestic cigar ever sold | 6 for 25c |
| Adad | a first-class domestic cigar, presenting superior workmanship | 7 for 25c |
| Lord Carver: | best Havana-Sumatra cigar ever made | 3 for 25c |
| Cuba-Roma: | all clear Havana, usually sold at 3 for 25c | 5c |
| La Idalia: | choice clear Havana—a wide favorite at | 3 for 25c |
| El Carvajal: | highest grade imported Havana | 10c and up |

The commercial advantage of a large purchasing power is well-known. The National Cigar Stands Company takes at once a masterful position in the tobacco market. It can, and does, own its own brands, control its own factories, make its own prices. In all this it merely acts for the druggists who own it, and each store gets the full benefit of all the advantages acquired and all the savings effected.

The saving in manufacturing and buying is almost equaled in the saving in selling expense. The distribution from producer to retailer being direct, there is no expense for jobbers or traveling salesmen. There is little or no rent to be charged on the prices of cigars by National stands and no extra salaries for salespeople.

In brief, the cigars come to the National stands freed of all middlemen's profits and can be sold practically free of expense. Between producer and smoker there are but two small profits instead of the usual four to six big ones. The result of this double saving is that

Never Before Have Cigars Been Sold So Close to Cost of Production

The proof of this will be found in the cigars now offered for sale. They give a quality never before known at the prices asked. The brands are all the exclusive production of, by and for the National Cigar Stands. Let them speak for themselves.

All National Stands are equipped with a new and scientifically designed storage case which constantly and automatically maintains the proper atmospheric conditions necessary to keep the cigars at their best

Had a Slow but Sure Gait.

There have been numerous disappointments in the outcome of some of the boys. We remember one boy in particular who was the butt of all ridicule from the boys of his age, and he took it good naturedly. He seemed to have no particular friends and herded by himself. His clothes always looked funny, and he had that awkward swagger over which the rest of us had much sport. No one ever thought that that plug would ever get anywhere or have anything. But today that plug is drawing a better salary than any two of the old gang. He has more money, more influence and more friends than any of the rest of us. The plug had a gait that was slow, but it was sure. He didn't appear to be a bit bright then, but he had a surface that took on a polish.—Westphalia (Mo.) Times.

Yet He Didn't Need Them.

He had been calling on a young lady for many moons; but, being backward, his suit progressed slowly. Finally she decided it was up to her to start something, so the next time he called she pointed to the rose in his buttonhole and said:

"I'll give you a kiss for that rose." A large, open face blush meandered over his countenance, but the exchange was made. Then he grabbed his hat and started to leave the room.

"Why, where are you going?" she asked in surprise.

"To the—er—florist for more roses," he exclaimed.

The Nerve of Him.

"Mr. Slopay, I understood you have said that nothing could be more unsatisfactory than a meal at my table?" said the landlady.

"I said that, but I have changed my mind."

"Oh, then you think there are more unsatisfactory things than a meal at my table?"

"Yes, ma'am; two meals."—Houston Post.

They Wouldn't Salute.

Black Jack Percival, who was a naval captain in the old days, once brought a cargo of Spanish jacks home in a man-of-war. He was in Spanish waters when the jacks were given to the United States by Spain and was ordered to bring them out in his ship. It made him angry, but he got the beasts aboard and sailed for New York. When he came through the Narrows the guns had been rolled back, and out of every port there stuck a jack's head. Thus decked out and without a salute, he came to his anchorage. The admiral commanding sent posthaste to demand why Captain Percival had not saluted. "I didn't salute," was the doughty captain's answer, "because I couldn't. I had two men twisting every jack's tail, but not a blanketed one of them would bray."

Catarrh had nearly ruined me. It had eaten away the partition in my nose; produced Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism; ruined my stomach; in fact, gone all through my system. Then Grip finished me. PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

Indicted, first count, entering a store room with attempt to committ a felony; second count, larceny; third count, receiving stolen goods, knowing the same to have been stolen. This case is from Rush township, and from the evidence it appears that the defendant broke into the store of the Vulcan Trading Company on the night of November 6, 1906, stealing some flour, ham, pair of gum boots and sausage valued about $19 00

Commonwealth vs. Hugh Carson and George Walk, prosecutor O. P. Maguire, Manager of the Vulcan Trading Company at Retort. Indicted, first count, entering store room with intent to commit a felony; second count, larceny; third count, receiving stolen goods, knowing the same to have been stolen. From the the evidence of the Commonwealth it appears that these two parties broke into the store of the Vulcan Trading Company at Retort on the night of March the 2nd, and taking therefrom goods of the value of about $120; on or about March 11th a search warrent was issued and the house of Carson and a man by the name of Peters searched in Clearfield county, and some of these goods found, whereupon the two above named defendants were arrested. The defendant occupied the farm of the prosecutrix for the years, 1905 and 1906, removing there from in the spring of 1907. The charge of the prosecutrix is that the defendant had not given her share of the corn for the year of 1906 as provided for under the lease, which lease provided that the owner of the farm (this prosecutrix) should receive two-fifths of all the crops excepting the hay, of which she was to receive the one-half.

The following prisoners were sentenced Thursday morning by the court.

The first called to the bar were the three men convicted of robbing the Vulcan Company's store at Retort. Hugh Carson and George Walk each received 2 yrs 4 months in the Western Penitentiary at Allegheny. Geo. Merryman received 2 years in the Penitentiary. Each was fined $1.00 and coasts of prosecution.

James Terrill the Lewistown bartender, who kicked in the plate glass window in the Bush Arcade was next to face the judge. It seems he has performed the some feat in Tyrone and Lewistown. He pleaded that he was suffering from delireum tremens and did not know what he was doing. The Court fined him $25. costs of prosecution and sixty days in jail.

John Ammerman aged 21 and Brinton Mongdon, aged 17, who plead guilty to robbing Jacob Rose's store at the Glass Works, Bellefonte were next sentenced. Mongdon was sent to the Reformatory and Ammerman got 2 years in the Western Penitentiary.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

The Dignity and Sacredness of Motherhood.

Think of the greatest man who has ever lived upon this earth, and then think of him as he lay, an infant, in his mother's arms. Does it seem possible that he should have grown, become great in the world's estimate and perhaps had monuments erected to perpetuate his memory, and yet that the world should have forgotten even the name of the woman who bore him? The son's work is the mother's primarily and, therefore, the recognition of the dignity and tender sacredness of motherhood should no longer be delayed. It is high time that this country's greatest treasures—THE WOMEN WHO HAVE CONTRIBUTED LARGELY TO MAKE IT WHAT IT IS—should be recognized.

Why should not these good mothers be given the right to vote and have a voice in our government—a right that is accorded to some of the most ignorant, most insignificant and vilest of men?

It has been well said that "for every monument to a great man there should be a monument to his mother and the mother's monument should be built first."

But it is not so much the purpose of this brief article to advocate the just rights and privileges due to the women of this country, although it has afforded the writer great pleasure to pen the foregoing brief tribute to their worth and just deserts, as it is to call attention to the fact that when broken down in health and strength by over-work, the too frequent bearing of children, the never ending toil, worry and care of the household, or by whatever may overtax the strength and delicacy of her sensitive system, there is one, tried and proven, safe remedy upon which she may rely to regain health, strength and the power to fully enjoy life.

That remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy made wholly from the roots of native forest plants which have been proven to be most efficacious, reliable and safe in the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, periodical pains, irregularities, wasting and weakening catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred ailments. It is a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle-wrapper and attest its completeness and correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona-fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements and the only one which contains no alcohol in its make up

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilerating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which, from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood, are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable. "Favorite Prescription" is the one remedy for woman's ills which contains no alcohol.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system.

If a woman has bearing down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvis, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, is nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach, sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable, catarrhal drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. Being made of native American medicinal roots, and without alcohol, it is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts lasting strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," rundown," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

No woman suffering from any of the above symptoms can afford to accept any secret nostrum or medicine of unknown composition, as a substitute for a medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is OF KNOWN COMPOSITION and has a record of over forty years of cures and sells more largely to-day than ever before. Its makers withhold no secrets from their patients, believing open publicity to be the very best guaranty of merit.

Dr. Pierce invites all suffering women to consult him by letter free of charge. All letters of consultation are held as strictly private and sacredly confidential and all answers are returned in plain, sealed envelopes. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

SHORTHAND.

The Quality That Appears to Be Lacking In All Systems.

The fatality of all systems of shorthand is that what seems easy to the eye of filial piety may be terribly difficult to the cold gaze of a stranger. Of the innumerable systems of shorthand that were the vogue a century ago how many survive today? asks a London writer. Fame and fortune still await the man or woman who can invent a system that will appeal to the reader as effectively as to the original writer. Perhaps if we were to rediscover the lost shorthand writing of the ancient Romans we might find ourselves on the road toward a solution of the problem.

For the Romans were on affectionate terms with shorthand. Did not Suetonius, speaking of Caligula, express surprise that an emperor of so many promising parts should nevertheless be an ignoramus in shorthand, and did not Titus Vespasianus pride himself on his facility in the use of stenography both for business and amusement? So fond was he of the sport that he delighted to gather his amanuenses around him in order that they should tilt against each other in the stenographic field. It may be that but for the rediscovery of the art in England toward the end of the sixteenth century the curious Pepys would not have been moved to write his diary.

VENEZUELA.

Beauty of the Country and the Impression It Leaves.

The beauty of the country is the first and the most lasting impression. To catch glimpses at every turn in the valleys of cloudy peaks, or when on the mountain side to see through the limpid air valley after valley between the protecting hills, to breathe this pure air, to know that summer is almost perpetual—he is only half a man who does not for a moment forget the needs of civilization in the intoxication of primitive nature. The loveliness of Venezuela is something different from that of the Andean ranges farther west and south. It is more tropical, and the mountains do not rise to the height in which the senses are stilled by grandeur, nor is there found so near the equator that ruggedness or gloom of solemnity which is one feature of the Rockies. It is a beauty of more human type, which can be enjoyed most when we know that man has his abode there. The Andes, the Alps or the Rockies are bold and austere. They need no life. Life is not meant for them. But such contrasts and changes as are constantly presented to the eye in these softened landscapes are more exquisite when man is pottering about on the surface trying to imagine that he is of some real importance on the earth.—Reader Magazine.

MARVELS OF WORKMANSHIP.

The Violins That Were Made by the Famous Old Masters.

The old masters used such care in the selection of the woods for their instruments that, having found a piece of wood of proper fiber and vibrational powers, they treasured every fragment, no matter how small, and rather than waste even a particle of such a strip they frequently constructed the backs and bellies of patches so delicately put together that "the seams are only discoverable by microscope, so perfect is the cabinetwork." It was ever the aim of the old masters to "marry" the back of hard sycamore, which produces the quick vibrations, and the belly of soft wood, producing the slower sound waves, in such a manner as to give the mellow but reedy timbre of the perfect instrument. Anatomically a violin made by an old master is a miracle of construction. It can be taken to pieces, patched, put together, repaired indefinitely and is almost indestructible. Repairing has been the means of exposing many clever forgeries. The inside of a violin made by Stradivari, Guarnerius or other old masters is as perfectly finished inside as outside, and the clumsy interior work of a forgery betrays an imitation at once.—Circle Magazine.

The Kaleidoscope.

Have you any idea what a wonderful thing a kaleidoscope really is? Did you ever catch yourself wondering how many different kinds of patterns could be formed by the little bits of colored glass which the instrument contains and which adjust themselves with such remarkable facility when the instrument is turned in the hand? A calculation has been made by a noted mathematician which we are sure will astonish readers. He shows that a kaleidoscope containing twelve bits of glass may be turned rapidly enough to make ten changes a minute day and night for ninety-one years and forty-nine days without exhausting the different combinations or the possibilities of getting a new figure on the next turn. If the number of pieces of glass be increased to twenty, a calculation shows that 462,880,899,576 years would be necessary to go through all of the changes of which it would be capable, the holder of the instrument turning all the while so as to get ten changes a minute and working day and night those millions of years.

Buddha's Six Essentials.

Buddha, who reformed the Hindoo religion more than 500 years before Christ, established for men six essentials of perfection—first, knowledge, used to distinguish the true from the false; second, energy, which is used to fight against the evils of the flesh; third, purity; fourth, patience; fifth, charity (i. e., loving kindness); sixth, almsgiving.

—We noticed a crowd of men and boys running out water street Monday, we joined in the chase. When out by the steam laundry we saw James Furst tugging away with a large trout. ## DEATH OF ROLLIN MILLER.

Passedinto the Great Beyond Thursday Morning at half Past Five.

Thursday morning at five thirty the life of Rollin Miller brother of Mrs. Henry Kline of Bellefonte passed into the Great Beyond. Mr. Miller had been in bad health for several months past and came to Bellefonte from Centre Hall to have a change of medical treatment, hoping to recover his health. At times he was much better and was able to be around, but on Tuesday he had a relapse and grew much worse again. On Wednesday afternoon he was taken to the hospital. His case seemed beyond medical aid and at the above mentioned time death claimed him. It was a very sad death and we sincerely sympathise with the friends of the deceased. Rollin Miller was a member of the Lutheran church, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and of the Painters and Paper Hangers Union. He leaves to mourn his death a wife and son Andrew who is about ten years old and the following sisters: Mrs. Henry Kline, wife of Sheriff Henry Kline of Bellefonte; Mrs. William Caldwell of Clearfield; and Miss Margaret Miller of Pittsburg and two stepbrothers Sidney Miller of Pleasant Gap and Robert of Curwensville. The body was taken to the mogue of undertaker Naginy's where it was prepared for burial, after which it was taken to the home of Sheriff Kline where the funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon at 2.30. Interment were made at Pleasant Gap in the Lutheran cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM McKINLEY.

Died at her Home in Canton, Ohio, on Sunday Afternoon.

Canton, O., May 26.—At 1:05 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. William McKinley fell into the sleep that knows no awakening. The transition from life to death was so peaceful and gradual that it was with difficulty that the vigilant physicians and attendants noted when dissolution came.

There was no struggle, no pain, Mrs. McKinley never knew of the efforts made for days to prolong her life, nor of the solicitous hope against hope of her sister and other relatives and friends for her recovery.

At the McKinley home when death came there were present Secretary Cortelyou, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barber, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, Mrs. Luther Day, Justice and Mrs. William R. Day, Drs. Portmann and Rixey and the nurses.

"Mrs. McKinley lasted hours longer than we expected," said the Secretary "Her vitality was wonderful," said Dr. Portmannn.

It was by Secretary Cortelyou that the announcement of the demise was given to the public. As this news was flashed over the land, William McKinley Post and George D. Harter Post, G. A. R., were forming in line, and to the strains of a band playing "The March Religeos" went to the First Methodist Episcopal church to listen to the annual memorial address which was given by Dr. Buxton, Mrs. McKinley's pastor.

The body of Mrs. McKinley will be placed in the vault in Westlawn cemetery, which holds the remains of her husband, until the completion of the national mausoleum on Monument Hill, when both caskets will be transferred to receptacles in that tomb.

Unoccupied Seventy Years

Huntingdon county has an old house, which has been avoided by all the neighbors for more than half a century. It is the old Brown homestead, near Hill Valley, the scene of one of the most shocking crimes ever committed in Pennsylvania, and it is rapidly falling away, the winds of the last winter having torn the roof loose. The place has been shunned for over half a century, but strangely enough, a morbid interest in the awful tragedy has permitted it to remain just as it was at the time of the crime, nearly seventy years ago, when Robert McConnaughy brutally murdered six of his father-in law's family.

Every effort was made at this institution to save the boy's life, including the use of antitoxine, but he passed away peacefully in that institution.
